DECREES

Art. 1 - Object

A selection procedure by qualifications and interview is hereby opened for the assignment of n. 1 departmental research grants with a duration of 1 year for the academic recruitment field the sector competition of 06 / M1 - General and Applied Hygiene, Nursing Sciences and Medical Statistics - Scientific and Disciplinary Sector MED/01 - Medical Statistics, Macrosector 06/M – Public Health in the Department of Medicine and Surgery.

Research Title: “Statistical methods for the identification of psychosocial and behavioural latent traits, and their role in modelling the risk of non-communicable chronic diseases”.

Research Project: “Risk stratification models for non-communicable chronic diseases (NCDs) often do not take into account psychosocial and behavioral risk factors other than cigarette smoking. However, with a constantly aging Italian population, investigating the role of these factors on NCDs is important in order to promote happy aging and delay the onset of these pathologies as much as possible. From a methodological point of view, psycho social and behavioral factors share the presence of a large number of variables that describe them, and which must first be reduced in order to be used in predictive models. For example, the need to identify latent traits is a common one for both psychological well-being investigated through a questionnaire, and the determination of dietary patterns.

Using data from large studies of the Italian adult and elderly population with follow-up for the main chronic-degenerative pathologies, the candidate will identify psycho-social and metabolic health patterns (from available data on diets and bile circulating), and will study their association with NCDs”.

This research will be carried out in the Department of the Department of Medicine and Surgery of the University of Insubria

Research Coordinator: Professor Giovanni Veronesi.
